Third Year	Band 3	Ms. K. Munnelly	2 hr 40 min

Options Structure :

Classes are generally of mixed ability - Higher Level course is pursued until the Mock examinations in Third Year - at that stage students wishing to follow Ordinary Level course can do so using past examination papers.

Timetabling :

First Year - three class periods per week (1 double, 1 single)
Second Year - four class periods per week (1 double, 2 single)
Third Year - four class periods per week (1 double, 2 single)

Grouping of Pupils :

First Year - students are allocated to their class groups based on their subject choices
- classes are generally of mixed ability.
Second Year - students are allocated to their class groups based on their subject choices
- classes are generally of mixed ability.
Third Year - students remain in the same groups as in Second Year.

Student Access to Subject/Level :

- First Year - students choose from a range of subjects, of which Business Studies is one. This choice is made in the latter half of Sixth Class in Primary School. There is no restriction on access to the subject. Parents sign a form acknowledging their child's choice of the subject. Generally, all students who choose the subject for First Year are accommodated.
- Second Year - towards the end of First Year, students reduce the number of subjects by choosing again - three subjects from a choice of five. Only students who have studied Business Studies in First Year can study it in Second Year. Parents sign a form acknowledging their child's choice of the subject. Generally, all students who choose the subject are accommodated.

Class Organisation :

Subject is taught in general classrooms, usually one seat behind each desk with desks in pairs, or two seats behind one table. This arrangement encourages paired work if required, and allows for group work, as tables and desks are not in a fixed position.

Textbooks and Course Materials :

Textbook (First Year) :

Ready For Business by Richard Delaney, plus workbook.

Textbook (Second/Third Years) :

Studies in Business by Mairead Roche and Des Cusack, plus workbook.

Sufficient for the three-year course for both levels.

Planning for Students with Special Needs :

Students with special needs are allowed to study the subject - general school policy allows for provision of readers, tapes etc. for such students at the State Examinations.

Students are facilitated in the use of laptop computers if they have writing or reading difficulties.

Special Needs Assistants accompany students in their classes.

Cross-Curricular Planning :

There are links between Business Studies and the following subjects :

- LCA Maths - completion of business documents, lodgement/withdrawal forms.
- Home Economics - consumer education
- Geography - distance tables for transport

Subject Planning for a Culturally Diverse Society :

Students from non-English speaking countries are allowed to choose the subject. School policy arranges for students with very little English to spend one year learning English only, before allowing them to enter classes to study other subjects.

Effective Teaching Methodologies :

- Workbook
- Worksheets
- Revision Book
- Past Examination Papers
- Overhead Projectors

Homework Procedures :

Homework is assigned for the following purposes :

- To consolidate work done in class
- To enable students to work on their own
- To encourage self-directed study
- To assist in a teacher's ongoing assessment of a student's work
- To promote learning of important concepts of the subject
- To ensure that students get practice in working out questions involving accounts etc.

Homework given to students is recorded in the student's School Journal, which is signed by parents each night to acknowledge homework given.

Teachers encourage the production of good quality homework by

- discussing answers in class
- providing sample answers, especially of accounts questions
- allowing time in class for preparation/discussion of homework
- ensuring that students record homework in the School Journal

Assessment/Examination Procedures :

Teachers carry out regular assessment of their students throughout each of the three years of the programme - usually in the confines of the classroom.

There are formal timetabled examinations for all students at Christmas, and for all First and Second Years at Summer.

There are timetabled mock examinations for Third Years students in the Spring of that year.

The results of such assessments are recorded by teachers in their own record books. The results from the formal timetabled examinations are sent home to parents in the form of a Report twice-yearly, after Christmas, and at the beginning of the Summer holidays. Results of ordinary class assessments may be entered in a student's School Journal for a parent's information.

Assessment provides important information to a teacher regarding a student's progress at a subject. It may influence the way in which a teacher approaches the teaching of a topic, taking into account the ability of a student to understand a subject. Assessment can be a great support to a teacher when deciding how to approach the teaching of the subject.

Record Keeping Procedures :

- Teachers maintain records for each class concerning attendance.
- Teachers maintain records for each student regarding subject progress.
- School records are kept concerning attendance, discipline.
- School progress record books are maintained, containing examination results.

Reporting Procedures :

- School has its own reporting procedure ie.
  - Class Teacher -> Class Tutor -> Year Head
  - Year Head -> Senior Management (through Year Head meeting).
- Incident Report Sheets, completed by teacher in the event of a student being hurt, injured, or becoming ill while on the school premises.
- School Journal.
